FIFTY ARE INJURED, AND PROBABLY THIRTY OF THEM WILL DIE.

COLLISION ON DENVER AND RIO GRANDE

Passenger Train Running 30 Miles an Hour Crashed Into Double-Header Freight Train Near Dotsero, Colorado.

Associated Press.

Glenwood Springs, Colo., Jan. 16.—Twenty-one dead and fifty injured, at least thirty of whom probably will die. That is the record of a collision of a Denver & Rio Grande passenger, westbound, and an eastbound double-header freight, near Dotsero, today.

To add to the horror of the wreck, a second relief train, on its way to Glenwood Springs, loaded with the injured, was tied up by the derailment of some freight cars.

The wreck is one of the worst in the history of railroading.

In a chair car, all of the passengers except one are said to have been killed. The one human being to escape was a 6-year-old girl, who was found under the dead body of her mother, and who was too near dead even to remember her name.

The dead in many instances are so horribly mangled that identification is very difficult.

Among the dead are:
John C. Davis, president Davis-Bridgman Drug Co., Denver, Colo.
Edward Gooding, Omaha.
Arthur Williams, Des Moines, Ia.
Mrs. L. J. Ezell, Williston, N. D.
Charles Mahan, Princeton, Ind.

Among the injured are:
Mrs. G. Blanke, Wapola, Mo.
Wm. Barber, Anthony, Kas.

The passenger train was flying down grade at a speed of thirty miles an hour when the trains met. The engines were demolished. A baggage car was left standing on the track.

One day coach was telescoped by a chair car immediately behind it, and many persons were mangled almost beyond recognition.

The injured were pinned under the wreckage of the chair car and coach, which turned over on their sides and were shattered.

The passengers of the rear cars, which remained on the track, saved many lives. The train was well filled with passengers, many bound for Glenwood Springs.

When relief trains arrived physicians and nurses administered as best they could to the dead and dying.

The responsibility is officially laid at the door of Engineer Gustav Olson, a veteran who, it is said, failed to obey orders, and the coroner's jury is expected to return a verdict charging him with either murder or manslaughter.

The wreckage caught fire and a holocaust was avoided by the uninjured passengers and members of the train crews, who used shovels and boards to throw snow upon the flames.

A second wreck occurred this morning east of Glenwood Springs, after the first relief train reached that city, with the injured, marooning the second relief train carrying the other wreck victims and the bodies of nineteen of the dead for nearly ten hours.

The collision occurred on a steep grade.

The passenger train was making fifty miles an hour, while the freight, drawn by two giant locomotives, was climbing the grade at twenty-five miles an hour.

There was no warning until the passenger train suddenly rounded a sharp curve.

The engine crew of the passenger realized the danger and Engineer Olson applied the air and the emergency cy brakes and closed the throttle of the engine.

The engine crews of the freight train jumped. The trains came together with a terrific impact and a roar heard for miles.

The three big engines were jammed together and resembled one huge piece of mechanism.

Eight men and women were decapitated, as though a cleaver had been used.

Only one person in the day coach, Alice Williams, aged 4, escaped.

The Engineer Made a Mistake.

According to information received here the wreck was caused by the failure of Engineer Gus Olson, of the passenger train to correctly read the

PROTESTED TO THE JUDGE

CONVICTED MAN DECLARED JURY DID NOT GIVE HIM JUSTICE.

COULD NOT HAVE COMMITTED THE CRIME

Said That His Whole Life Made It Impossible for Him to Have Been Guilty—Was Given Sentence of Five Years.

Hearst News Service.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 16.—"The verdict was against me not because the juryman believed me guilty, but because they thought this banking business had gone far enough.

"They so expressed themselves after they left the box, and if you honor or desire I can present affidavits to that effect.

"My manner of living and rearing made it impossible for me to commit this crime as it would be impossible for me to go out into the streets and commit murder.

"This had been instilled into me by Christian parents during all my life, and the practice of the Golden Rule has always been held up to me."

That was what E. H. Steinman, in part, said to Judge James S. Young when asked if he had anything to say as to why he should not be sentenced in court here today.

Judge Young then sentenced Steinman to five years in the penitentiary. Steinman was president of the Elva Lumber and Supply Co., and was convicted of aiding and abetting in the misapplication of the funds of the Mt. Pleasant Farmers and Merchants' bank.

Charles E. Mullen, cashier of the bank, was sentenced to five years, as were also William McKee, vice president, and his brother, John M. McKee, president of the Clintonville bank, all of whom were convicted on the same charge.

The president, with his party, were escorted to the School of Technology, where Mr. Taft addressed the students at 10:15 o'clock in the chapel.

As he ascended the rostrum he was greeted by a "Taft yell," followed by the college "ell of Yale.

Enthusiasm was shown, and Taft bowed again and again. Only once did Mr. Taft's speech border on politics, and that was when he criticized the use of the engineering corps of the United States army, the finest in the world, for so much civil work that the army was almost deprived of its services.

Closing at 10:40, President-elect Taft was presented with a soft cushion by a little daughter of President Matheson, of the college.

The party then set out for the Big Bethel church (colored), where Mr. Taft arrived at 11 o'clock, and addressed a large gathering of negroes.

Not a word was uttered by Mr. Taft which would in the least fan the fires of race prejudice or create any unrest.

President Taft later in the day spoke in Athens, and returned to Atlanta tonight.

NIGHT RIDER TRIAL MONDAY

Ed Marshall, the Next Union City, Tenn., Defendant, Is Wealthy.

Hearst News Service.

Union City, Tenn., Jan. 16.—The trial of Ed Marshall, one of the wealthiest citizens of the county, and said to have been one of the leaders of night riders at Walnut Log, where Captain Ranken was murdered, has been set for Monday.

The confessions of Will Johnson and Theibert Rogers made yesterday have placed a great deal of proof in the hands of the state that will be valuable in this trial.

WERE IN RAILWAY WRECK

Orville Wright and His Sister, but They Escaped Injury.

Pau, France, Jan. 16.—Orville Wright, the American aeronautist, and his sister, were in a railroad wreck near Habis today.

Neither sustained injury, but ten other passengers were hurt.

ASKS $10,000.00 MATCH

"BOWLING CYCLONE" WANTS TO MEET SOME AMERICAN IN PARIS.

IS SON OF PROMINENT MUNICH BREWER

Interest in the Sport Has Developed Wonderfully in French Metropolis Under Patronage of Americans.

Cable to the Democrat-Sentinel.

(Hearst News Service.)

Paris, Jan. 16.—A purse of $10,000 awaits in Paris the American bowler who has confidence enough in his own skill to come over and back his opinion with a like amount to have a series of matches with a bowling wonder some Americans have discovered here. This so-called "bowling cyclone" has only been in Paris a month, during which time he was first introduced to the American alley and balls. So what he has accomplished has been with only a few weeks of practice.

His name is Herr Straik, and he is the son of a prominent Munich brewer, and had some reputation as a bowler in his native town in the German game, so different from the American. However, one of the pioneer American bowlers here, Captain P. L. Bowen, 3 Rue George Ville, Paris, representing those interested in Herr Straik, has deposited with the American Express 25,000 francs ($5,000) as forfeit money, and will put up the other $5,000 when necessary to back Straik against all American comers.

Interest in bowling has developed wonderfully in Paris recently under the patronage of a number of well known Americans. In the central part of Paris there are now over thirty American alleys and these are occupied the entire day by French and American enthusiasts. Among the Americans interested in the sport are J. Clinch Smith, H. L. Horchert, William Dodsworth, Gaston Sargeant, G. H. Cowen, Nash Turner and J. Vanderhoven.

TAFT HAD A BUSY DAY

Addressed Technology Students, Negroes and Athens Citizens.

Hearst News Service.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 16.—The second day of President-elect Taft's visit to Atlanta was a busy one, despite the rain.

The president, with his party, were escorted to the School of Technology, where Mr. Taft addressed the students at 10:15 o'clock in the chapel. As he ascended the rostrum he was greeted by a "Taft yell," followed by the college "ell of Yale.

Enthusiasm was shown, and Taft bowed again and again. Only once did Mr. Taft's speech border on politics, and that was when he criticized the use of the engineering corps of the United States army, the finest in the world, for so much civil work that the army was almost deprived of its services.

Closing at 10:40, President-elect Taft was presented with a soft cushion by a little daughter of President Matheson, of the college.

The party then set out for the Big Bethel church (colored), where Mr. Taft arrived at 11 o'clock, and addressed a large gathering of negroes.

President Taft later in the day spoke in Athens, and returned to Atlanta tonight.

UNWRITTEN LAW SUPREME

That Is the Lesson of His Acquittal, Says Thornton J. Hains.

New York, Jan. 16.—Thornton Jenkins Hains, acquitted yesterday of complicity in the murder of William E. Annis, will spend today in rest at a local hotel with his father and mother, General and Mrs. Peter C. Hains. As short story writing is his profession, Hains says he will get to work immediately, that is, just as soon as he has completely recovered from the effects of the trial and his imprisonment. His trial, it is said, he will make the basis of a novel on the "unwritten law," concerning which he is quoted as follows:

"Do you know what stands out foremost in my mind from the background of my trial? This: That the jury of acquitting me of criminal responsibility for the death of Annis, has placed the 'unwritten law' high above the written law of the state of New York.

"I purpose to devote much of my time in the immediate future to writing a series of articles embodying that thought. I intend also to write a novel having for its theme the 'unwritten law.'

Clearly, the jury vindicated the righteousness of the 'unwritten law' by finding me not guilty. That must be obvious to every mind that had followed the testimony and grasped the significance of the verdict in correlation with the judge's charge."

THE TEMPERANCE WAVE

THAT HAS SWEEPED OVER AUSTRALIA HAS NOW ENGULFED AUSTRALIA.

COST SALOON KEEPER OVER $500,000

Legislative Assembly Has Passed an Act That Will Give South Australia Liquor Law Said to Be Truly Advanced.

Cable to the Democrat-Sentinel.

(Hearst News Service.)

Melbourne, Jan. 16.—The temperance reform wave which swept over Australia has engulfed Australia.

After the great victory of the "no license" party in New Zealand, which has cost the saloon keepers at a low estimate $500,000, South Australia has joined the temperance van.

The legislative assembly there has just passed a most drastic licensed victuallers act, which, when it becomes operative, will give South Australia the most advanced liquor law in the whole commonwealth.

The law provides for the registration of existing barmaids and prohibits the engagement in the future of new barmaids.

All hotels will be closed on election days, as well as on legal and religious holidays. Single women in the future can not obtain licenses. Those holding them now can retain them. Licenses will not be permitted to own more than one saloon. Travelers will be obliged to journey ten miles from their home before they become "bonafide travelers."

A cast iron provision is made for closing at 11 o'clock.

MRS. WEST ENTERTAINED

Gave Party for Mrs. Quierly and Guests Friday Evening.

Mrs. C. E. West entertained a company of friends Friday evening at bridge whist as a compliment to Mrs. S. R. Quierly and her guests, Messdames W. E. Clark and M. A. E. Patton.

In the distribution of the prizes, Miss Lucile Hill won first, a "Billiken," and Mrs. W. A. Latimer the consolation, a comic picture entitled, "Is Everybody Happy?" Messdames Clark and Patton were each presented with hand-painted plates.

Mrs. J. S. Brenneman, a recent bride, who was among the guests, was presented by Mr. West with a beautiful framed water color, the design being yellow roses.

The guest list included several society folk, and the hostess served them with dainty refreshments, adding much pleasure to the occasion.

STRANGLED HER CHILD

Young Teacher Then Went to School Room and Resumed Duties.

Hearst News Service.

Kewanee, Ill., Jan. 16.—With her new born babe strangled by a garter and locked in a suit case in her room at the home of Ray Lyton, where she boarded, Miss Mable Waters, less than six hours after the child's birth, went to her country school and took up her usual duties as teacher.

In a few hours she became so ill that a physician was called.

An inquest was held, at which the girl mother confessed her crime. A verdict was returned that the child was strangled by the mother while temporarily insane.

Clyde Stiers, a young business man of Galva, is under bonds in connection with the case.

THE WAR SPIRIT STRONG

PLAYING IN BELGRADE SO REALISTIC IT AROUSES THE BIG AUDIENCE.

A TRULY REMARKABLE DEMONSTRATION

It Was Witnessed at the National Theater During Presentation of a Play Dealing With Here's Exploits.

Cable to the Democrat-Sentinel.

(Hearst News Service.)

Belgrade, Jan. 16.—Patriotism is running riot in Serbia. A remarkable demonstration of anti-Austrian feeling and illustrative of the high degree the war fever has reached was given at the National theater during the presentation of a play by M. Nashitch dealing with the exploits of the Bosnian hero, Hadji Loya, who resisted the Austrian invasion of his province and fell shouting, "Drive them out!"

The simulated combats between the imperial troops and the insurgents were so realistic that twice real blood flowed on the stage. It had proved impossible to find any Serbian willing to don the Austrian uniform, and gypsies had to be impressed into service.

Their role was pitiful, for they were unmercifully pelted by the audience, and as the play proceeded and passions waxed stronger they barely showed themselves on the stage and finally fled.

MARRIED IN KANSAS CITY

Miss Callie Clark, Formerly of Sedalia, Wed to Mr. P. C. Barbee.

Miss Callie Clark, formerly a popular young lady of Sedalia, and Mr. Paul C. Barbee were married in Kansas City last evening, the event being celebrated at the Central Presbyterian church.

Preceding the ceremony a musical program was rendered and the newly wedded pair at 8:30 o'clock proceeded to Hymen's altar, Miss Clark having as maid of honor Miss Florence Wilson, of Springfield, while Mr. Barbee had Mr. Charles Kemper as groomsmen.

Misses Jean Clark, Alma Murphy, Eva Rue Clark and Illeen Bryant were the maids of honor, and the ushers were Messrs. A. J. Read, Irving Smith, Edwin White, George C. Smith, Lester Hall and Jed Graham.

AGED VETERAN DEAD

J. C. Faulkner, Civil War Veteran, Passed Away Saturday Night.

J. C. Faulkner, aged 69 years, died last night at the home of his son, Frank Faulkner, 1411 South Ohio street, death resulting from heart trouble.

Deceased was a veteran of the civil war, having served with the federal forces, and was affiliated with the local post of the G. A. R.

He is survived by his son, Frank, a local contractor, a daughter living at Berkeley, Cal., and another daughter, residing at Angels' Camp, Cal.

A brief funeral service will be held from the residence this morning, the Rev. F. Y. Campbell to officiate, and at its conclusion the remains will be sent on Missouri Pacific train No. 2 to Ostrander, O., for interment.

A $75,000 LOSS BY FIRE

Forty Persons in Rooming House Escaped With One Exception.

Associated Press.

Sapulpa, Ok., Jan. 16.—Fire early today destroyed buildings occupied by the Gilliland Mercantile company, J. R. Sutton, dry goods, and a rooming house.

Forty roomers escaped, with the exception of one man, who was overcome by smoke.

Fire Chief Stagg, who also was overcome, was carried out by the firemen and soon revived.

The total loss is estimated at $75,000.

WARRENSBURG TEAM WON

Basket Ball Players From State Normal Met Central Business College.

The crack basket ball team of the Warrensburg normal visited Sedalia yesterday, and while here played a very one-sided game with the Central Business college team, winning out by a score of 65 to 19.

The visitors had everything their own way from the start, and had little trouble in making goals, while their opponents were merely out-classed and were fortunate in securing as many as they did.

A fair sized crowd witnessed the contest, which proved very interesting.

The line-up of the two teams follows:

Central Business College—Welling, center; McEwen, right guard; Jenkins, left guard; Smith, right forward; Terral, left forward.

Referee—Mason.

GMElich GAINED VOTES

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE SCORED IN RECOUNT OF BALLOTS IN ST. LOUIS SATURDAY.

HE NOW HAS A LEAD OF ONE SIXTY-FIVE

Democrats Are Chagrined Over the Result, but Think They Will Make Up the Loss in Other Wards.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 16.—Jacob P. Gmelich, republican nominee for lieutenant governor, forged to the front today in his nip and tuck race for office with William R. Painter, the recount of ballots in sixty-five precincts in six wards of St. Louis, under the supervision of the joint conference committee of the legislature, giving him a lead of 169.

It was the republicans' day to smile, and they made the most of their opportunity. The democrats, naturally, were chagrined at the unexpected change from yesterday, when Mr. Painter showed a net gain of twenty-four, but did not give up hope and express confidence that the inspection of the ballots in the twenty-two other wards will enable them to have the last laugh.

The force of clerks engaged in the recount were permitted to cease their labors at 6 o'clock, after working without interruption since 9 o'clock excepting one hour for lunch. The work will be resumed on Monday morning and will be temporarily suspended in the evening to enable the members of the joint committee to return to Jefferson City to vote for United States senator.

Mr. Gmelich had easy sailing today after the recount of the First ward had been finished. Mr. Painter registered a gain of thirty in the First ward, but it was the only ward canvassed in which he scored. The Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth and part of the Sixth swelled the republican candidate's total.

IS RESTING WELL

Word From Mrs. Burrowes Is Comforting to Her Friends.

E. B. Burrowes, associate editor of the Democrat-Sentinel, last night received a message from his son, Lon M. Burrowes, stating that Mrs. Burrowes, who is at St. Vincent's sanitarium in St. Louis, is resting well, which is pleasing news to her numerous friends here.

Her son, Lon, arrived home this morning, while her daughter, Miss Rosemary Burrowes, remained with her today, and will arrive home tonight.

CONFESSES TO MURDER TWO YEARS AGO

Seventeen-Year-Old Who Convicted His Brother-in-Law of Murder Now Opens the Way for His Liberty.

Hearst News Service.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 6.—Seized with remorse because he had been the cause of an innocent man suffering a life sentence in prison, William Little, aged 17, an inmate of the state reform school, today confessed that he killed his step-father, Fred Baker, in Louisville, two years ago, and that his brother-in-law, Davis Jenkins, now serving a life sentence in the penitentiary for the crime, as a result of his (Little's) statement on the witness stand, causing his conviction, is innocent.

Little admits he fired the shots into his step-father's body. Efforts will be at once to secure a pardon for Jenkins from the governor.

INSIDE OR OUTSIDE?

That's the Question, Whether to Have Scab on Arm or in Stomach.

The recent edict of the Sedalia board of education, making it imperative that all school children be vaccinated with vaccine virus, has not interfered to any noticeable extent in the attendance of the pupils up to the present time, is the information given to a reporter by Superintendent of City Schools John P. Gass.

"The order," he says, "is being complied with by patrons of the schools responding freely."

"The order," said a member of the school board, "is merely in compliance with the state law."

A large number of students, it is said, have thus far ignored the board's ruling, and intend to revolt. This may result in some pupils being kept out of school, as in many instances the parental ancestors of school children have flatly refused to have them subjected to vaccination.

Internal vaccination, such as is administered by homeopaths, does not meet with the approval of the board, and the pupil must have a physician's certificate showing that he, or she, has been vaccinated, else that the vaccine injected failed to "take" after two administrations.

What the result of the rigid enforcement of the ruling of the board will be is only a matter of conjecture, but there is a chance of "something doing" in the schools before the matter is finally ended.

ARE SENDING HOUSES

Material for Dwellings for Earthquake Sufferers to Be Shipped.

Hearst News Service.

Washington, Jan. 16.—In compliance with verbal directions from President Roosevelt received by the secretary of the navy, the navy department has arranged for the expenditure of approximately $500,000 in the purchase of building material, including all articles necessary for the construction of substantial frame houses for the Italian earthquake sufferers, and the shipments will begin by the sailing of two steamers probably on Monday. The lumber is being delivered in New York.

Each ship will carry material for the construction of about five hundred houses, and it will require not less than six steamers to carry the entire amount purchased to the shores of the stricken country.

Tillman Wants Investigation.

Washington, Jan. 16.—It was announced at the capitol this afternoon, after word had gone out that there would be no committee appointed by the senate to investigate Senator Tillman, that the South Carolina senator proposed to put the senate on record in the matter, even if he had to introduce a resolution of investigation himself.

MR. ROOSEVELT AS A LAW OB-SERVER.

Senator Foraker's arraignment of the president and the late secretary of war, now President-elect Taft, in relation to the Brownsville affair borders on the sensational, and constitutes altogether the hardest single blow that has so far been struck at Mr. Roosevelt's title to consideration as an orderly and law-abiding and justice-loving chief executive.

His speech as affecting the case of the negro soldiers will call for further attention as it finds publication in full. What presently arrests attention is the specific charge of lawlessness brought against the president and fully substantiated, to all appearances, not to speak of the matter of going outside of and against the law in the prosecutions of what Mr. Foraker well speaks of as these helpless beings whose only known guilt is that a presumption has been raised against a few of them by the president himself.

It appears, in the first place, that a federal statute was violated when the president employed private detectives in the government service. Next, it seems payment for such unlawful service was made out of a war department emergency fund, appropriated ten years ago, obviously for contingencies growing out of the war with Spain; and it next appears that no detailed statement of the manner in which money from this fund has been expended has been made to congress contrary to the demands of law.
There has evidently been misuse of the fund in question and disregard of the requirements of law in failing to make report of the matter to congress.

The promptness with which the senate passed a resolution calling upon the secretary of the treasury for a detailed statement of the expenditures from this war emergency fund, indicates how that body as a whole regards the seriousness of the charges.

The president has made the country ring with his denunciations and prosecutions and efforts at detection of offenders against the law. In as well as out of congress. And now he himself appears as quite indifferent to law when it stands in the way of the pursuit of his purposes and his vindictions. Is it not about time that Mr. Roosevelt began to give some attention to his own course of conduct?

SENATOR TILLMAN.

If Senator Tillman is wise he will heed the advice of his friends and let the Oregon timber land incident rest where it is. An investigation such as he has proposed to force upon the senate would do him no good. On the contrary, it would still further damage his reputation, for it would be impossible for any self-respecting committee of that body to give him a clean bill of health.

We are not concerned with the controversy over the president in going out of his way to involve a United States senator in a near-scandal; neither do we care anything about the personal feeling that exists between the occupant of the White House and the South Carolina statesman. Neither these things, the source of the accusation, nor the quarrels between the executive and congress have any bearing on the merits of Senator Tillman's case. The facts, and they are all there is to the matter, are all against the senator.

True, he has done nothing criminal, nothing for which he might be prosecuted in the criminal or sued in the civil courts.

Nevertheless, he has compromised himself seriously in the court of public opinion and is convicted by his own evidence. His letters show that he did these things. He tried to buy "eight of the best quarter sections" of the land in Oregon which he was at the time endeavoring to induce the government to dispossess the Harriman interests of.

But if these lands were to go on the market they would be sold at the nominal price of $2.50 an acre to actual settlers. The very ground on which Tillman invited the government to sue for a cancellation of the railway grants was because this requirement of the law had not been complied with. He or any other man, provided the suit succeeded, would be entitled to take up 160 acres of land at the stipulated legal price, provided he would settle on it.

Does any one imagine that Senator Tillman intended, when he asked the land agents to reserve "eight of the best quarter sections," to take his family out west and settle with it in the lonely wilds of Oregon? Clearly, here Senator Tillman is in the wrong.
Again he has compromised himself when in the senate he declared he had not bought any land in the west
"nor undertaken to buy any," while at that very moment letters were in existence which proved he was deceiving his colleagues and speaking contrary to the truth.

For these offenses there is no defense. They are not grievous or even serious in a sense, and yet they cast a shadow upon the reputation of the man guilty of stooping to them.

miles an hour on a down grade when he collided with the freight, which was laboriously climbing up the hill under a full head of steam of two big engines.

When the passenger did not stop at Dotsero Conductor Edward Mc-Curdy jumped to the bell cord and signaled to Engineer Olson to stop the train, but it was then too late to avert the disaster.

The three big engines telescoped, and when they came to a standstill they resembled one huge piece of twisted steel and iron rods and mechanism.

HE WANTED TO SIT DOWN

So Emil Ratzer Stole Several Chairs
from C. D. Williamson.

Released from jail Friday morning, after serving a sentence for chicken stealing, and arrested shortly afterwards on a charge of the theft of several chairs from C. D. Williamson, is the record of Emil Ratzer, who, it seems, had rather be on the inside of the jail looking out instead of on the outside looking in.

Ratzer yesterday morning was arraigned before Police Judge Gresham, sitting as ex-officio justice, and was given sixty days, which will keep him out of trouble until the grass begins to get green.

At the police court session one jone drunk was fined he usual amount.

[Hearst News Service.]

London, Jan. 16.—More than $5-000,000 has been paid for pictures and other works of art in the art sales of 1908.

Several great collections have been disposed of, and a record of twenty-five years has been established by the fact that no fewer than sixty pictures have fetched $7,350 or more apiece.

It has been a great Turner year.
Eleven of this master's works realized about $250,000. His "Mortlake Terrace" was sold for $66,150, and his "Heidelberg" was sold for the record price for a water color of $22,050.

One collection of pictures—the

'Washclean'

Makes Life's Washday Easy

The forty merchants now handling
"Washclean" in Sedalia are giving us the most favorable reports. We are going to demonstrate the merits of "Washclean" to every woman in Sedalia, and we know you are sure to appreciate its virtue as thousands of women do, who are now using it.

"Washclean" is not a compound based upon strong chemicals—there is where it is superior. It is a consensus proposition, so mild, so pure, so gentle in its action that we guarantee it will not dull the color or injure the most delicate fabric of any article that water will not harm—and will most effectually remove the dirt without the aid of board or machine.

No rubbing—no "tussling" with a washing machine—in fifteen minutes our washing is done.

TWASTWENTY YEARS AGO

WEDDING OF MR. AND MRS. WIL-LIAM H. POWELL TOOK PLACE.

ANNIVERSARY WAS OBSERVED SATURDAY

Members of the Monday Night Whist
Club Participated in Pleasant Evening in Honor of the Event.

Last evening Mr. and Mrs. W. H.
Powell sprung a genuine surprise on a small company of their friends,
members of the Monday Night Whist club, when by invitation they met at the Powell palatial residence on Broadway for a few hours' pleasure at cards.

Not until the entire party had assembled was the surprise sprung, and then it was announced that the occasion was the twentieth anniversary of their marriage.

There was no ostentation in connection with the observance of the anniversary, it merely taking the form of a club meeting aside from reminiscences in social converse of a pleasant nature of a fifth of a century past.

Twenty years ago last night the marriage of Miss Louise Humphreys and Mr. W. H. Powell was celebrated at Calvary church in this city, and out of all the wedding guests at that time only one, Charles E. Dexter, has crossed the great divide to the unknown realm.

Five tables were utilized by the guests at the entertainment in honor of the occasion last night, and prizes were awarded to Miss May Hawkins and Mr. Frank B. Meyer.

The presentation of a jumping frog to each lady present created an endless lot of fun, and the evening was whiled away with everybody enjoying themselves to the fullest extent. During the course of the evening delicious refreshments were served and before the guests departed for their homes, wishing the host and hostess many more years of wedded bliss, a guessing contest, which proved highly amusing, was indulged in.

The contest took the form of queries being made, and each guest asked a question was supposed to answer appropriately by naming some vegetable. Mr. Meyer, in the contest failed to win first honors, but made up for any deficiency by introducing the following poem, which was considered by all as very fine indeed:

What I Don't Know About Vegetables
BY SILAS GUNION.

Our hostess has asked me to answer in turn
The questions attached, but I don't give a darn

For vegetables, and I'd rather be lashed
Than to eat a potato, unless it be mashed.

In addition, I know the names of but few,
And a turnip's no turnip except in a stew.

E'en sages have quarreled, when they should have been mute,
Many claiming tomatoes are nothing but fruit.

To make matters worse, I've never had luck
In trying to raise plain garden truck.
Once I blowed in a "Ten" for a bushel of seeds

So my hostess will pardon my no
answering in turn
The questions attached, for I don't give a darn

For "Tatoes and Turnips, Pumpkins,
Parsnips or Peas,
While the Onions I planted rest under the trees.

SHRINERS HELD BANQUET

Scottish Rite Masons Closed Local

As a closing feature to the sessions of the Scottish Rite Masons of the four consistories embracing St. Louis, St. Joseph, Joplin and Sedalia, the ladies of the Order of the Eastern Star Friday night served one of the most elaborate banquets given in Sedalia in years at the Masonic temple.
Sixty delegates from the cities mentioned, each one a Mason of high degree, were present, and the manner in which they were entertained while here will long be remembered by them.

The meeting held here is of vital importance, and was the first of its kind, its purpose being to bring the Scottish Rite members in closer fellowship with each other, and keep up a general good feeling among them
for all time to come.

And all that I raised was a big crop
of weeds.

When I married Miss Marshall she gave me no rest

'Til we bought a farm perched on the crest

Of a ridge that was barren, and awfully dry.

And 'twas there I gave farming my very first try.

I harrowed the ground and made fallow the loam.

Then spaded and raked, right near the old home.

And all I could show for my hard work and deeds

Was, as I've mentioned, a big crop
of weeds.

At the end of the winter I planted wife One;

'Twixt you and me, 'twas the best job I'd done.

Time hung heavy, so in two months and a day

I foolishly married old peppery Miss Jay.

Again Fortune smiled, and wife number Two.

She sickened and died, then I married Miss Drew.

With her I was happy, why could she not stay?

But in less than a year she, too, passed away

Side by side the three rest, in my small burial lot.

And I'm wondering if 'bout gardening
they still plan and plot.

Be this as it may, the statement my neighbors did hatch,

Was that "Old Uncle Si has the Boss Onion Patch."

My one cause of worry, no Small Onions to me

Was presented by either wife One,
Two or three.

But why should I worry, for I'll never have luck

In what people term here, "plain garden truck."

So my hostess will pardon my no
answering in turn

The questions attached, for I don't
give a darn

For "Tatoes and Turnips, Pumpkins,

kind, its purpose being to bring the Scottish Rite members in closer fellowship with each other, and keep up
a general good feeling among them
for all time to come.

At the banquet Mrs. Eda Park, chairman of the banquet committee, was ably assisted by Mesdames E. E.

Coddington, Alderman, Wright, Carter,
Black, Mayberry, England, C. F. F.
Ernst, Hiram Lewis, Misses Corinne Lewis, Grace Johnson, Bell Wills, Anabel Ernst and others.

The decorations in the spacious dining hall were very appropriate, the tables being simply decorated with centerpieces.

The menu served consisted of oyster soup, baked turkey with dressing and gravy, mashed potatoes, pickles, jellies, hot rolls, coffee and plum pudding.

William Latour, a local member of the Scottish Rites, who is known throughout all the cities having delegates here, presided as toastmaster, and served with all the dignity and grace possible.

Toasts on Masonry were given by many of the visitors, as well as short talks by some of the local members, and the address of A. C. Stewart, of St. Louis, inspector general honorary, and lately appointed deputy of the supreme council for the state of Missouri, was a very impressive one, he dwelling at length on the work of Scottish Rites and Masonry.

E. C. Westheimer, of St. Joseph;
Rev. W. F. Jones of Sedalia; Dr. Kersey, of St. Joseph; John R. Parsons and Alfred H. White were among those responding to toasts, and Wm.
Latour, toastmaster, gave one of his characteristic addresses in a manner pleasing to all. Mr. Latour was at his best, and that means that his auditors were given something better than the ordinary impromptu talk.

Col. J. West Goodwin followed with a few appropriate remarks, and without the event proved one of much interest to all, as well as providing excellent entertainment.

Throughout the evening B. and S. orchestra rendered several musical numbers, and adjournment was taken by the 100 banqueters present enjoying a smoker.

The following is a list of thirty-second degree Masons, who hold membership in Sedalia:

WONDERFUL DEVELOPMENT IN PAN HANDLE OF TEXAS

Hundreds of people are building homes and opening farms in this rich and partly developed ranch. When investors see lands that can be had at the low price of from $15 to $20 per acre that are actually producing from 20 to 35 bushels of wheat per acre, 30 to 50 bushels of corn per acre, also enormous yields of kafir corn, milo maize, oats, barley and millet, with alfalfa making good showing, they at once realize what a great future the country has, and many are taking advantage of this opportunity. Do you realize that from 10,000 to 18,000 acres of these lands are sold each trip we make, and to the best farmers and investors of this country, too, and do you realize that five years ago this was a cattle range and today it is thickly dotted with farm houses and producing health and wealth, and in ten years hence it will be the most thickly populated district of the great southwest? The land of plenty, with values ranging from $50 to $75 per acre. Then when you make a trip to the southwest it will be the same old story, "I could have bought these lands right in 1909." Nothing safer than land investments. We insist on you making one of these trips with us on our special train and investigate the truth of the above statements. We go again next Tuesday, also the first and third Tuesday of February.

UNDER THE FEE SYSTEM

CONSTABLE LEW KAHR'S NOT TO BE PAID ANY STIPULATED SALARY.

COUNTY COURT SO DECIDED SATURDAY

Judges Think the Placing of Constables and Justices of Peace on Salaries is Not Constitutional.

Constable Lew Kahrs wants a salary for himself and deputy instead of working under the fee system, which has been in vogue for years.

In an effort to secure a salary he appeared before the honorable county court Saturday, and through his attorney, A. L. Shortridge, tried to convince the court that the salary proposition was the best for the county, best for himself and everybody.

The court, however, says, "Nay, nay, Lew. We would if we could, but we can't."

The decision was reached in the matter after arguments had been made for and against the establishing of the constabulary on a salaried basis.

This means that the same fee system will continue, as at present.

In taking the action the court ruled that the act of the legislature, providing for constables and other township officers being placed on salaries, was practically a re-enactment of the old Barnett law, which was declared unconstitutional a number of years past by the supreme court of Missouri.

Considerable other routine work was disposed of by the court during the session, among which was the allowing of the coroner's bill of $30.35.

Tulsa, Ok., Jan. 16.--Under the delusion that he was a millionaire, T. S. Saunders, distinguished in appearance, who attracted much attention here and in Sapulpa with his spectacular business deals, has been adjudged insane and placed in a private hospital.

Saunders, who came here recently, had a habit of giving big checks and executing mortgages. His first venture was to purchase a half interest in an abstract company. He gave his check as part payment, securing the balance by one of his mortgages. He bought a business lot, had plans for a fine building drawn and even contracted for the insurance.

AMUSEMENTS

WOOD'S OPERA HOUSE.

The Stanley Stock Co. offer tonight the greatest of all rural comedy-dramas, "Why Girls Go Wrong," a play full of heart interest. One of our educators has said the drama is more powerful than the sermon. This is one of that kind—full of pathos, interspersed with comedy all the way through. This company comes to Sedalia from the east, where they have been playing for the last ten years and each play during the week will be of a high character in every respect. Specialties between each act will be completely changed every night. The same low prices will prevail which are in the reach of everyone.

Ladies free Monday night as usual.

RUMBLINGS OF THE RAIL

by Division Superintendent Etter, of the Santa Fe, to the engineer and conductor of each train in the head-on collision at Chillico, Ok., January 4. Those dismissed are:

Engineer James Phillips and Conductor Peters of the passenger train, and Engineer James George and Conductor Corner, of the freight train.

A Harriman-Hill Fight On.

The Denver Times of Friday says: "E. H. Harriman has ordered the engineering department of the Union Pacific railroad to parallel the lines of the Colorado and Southern in an accident at Crowder City, Okla. Another new arrival is C. J. Corcoran, a clerk at Denison, his ailment being appendicitis."

I am offering this week only, all leading 10c straight cigars, 4 for 25c. Ben Scotten, Second and Ohio.

Automatic Couplers.

Master Mechanic M. J. McGraw, of the Missouri Pacific shops, left last night for St. Louis to spend Sunday.

The Katy has placed a pilerdriver in service on the Cherokee division and will make extensive improvements on the bridges.

J. F. Martin, of St. Louis, is running as messenger on the flyer between Parsons and St. Louis, in place of V. G. Hamilton, who is taking a lay off.

The Wabash Railroad Co. has finished a new $10,000 fire proof depot at Kirksville, Mo. The old building was burned Dec. 17, 1907, and the depot was begun last August.

Train service, which has been considerably crippled since the recent snowstorm and severe cold spell, is gradually assuming normal conditions, making passenger service much more satisfactory.

S. R. Smith, agent for the Missouri Pacific at Bunceon, has been offered a like position with the company at Boonville, to succeed "Tom" Heston, resigned to resume his former duties as traveling auditor. Mr. Smith has the matter under consideration.

A large number of painters at the Katy paint shop were compelled to lay off yesterday by reason of the failure of a shipment of paint to arrive. The "dope" reached here during the day, and the men will be on hand to spread it as usual tomorrow morning.

C. J. Walden, editor of the Boonville Advertiser, devotes a column editorial in the last issue of his paper to a roast of the Missouri Pacific management for the bum passenger service it furnishes the Vine Clad City. Mr. Walden advises his readers to patronize the M., K. & T., which gives excellent service.

S. Rothner, an engineer running on the Choctaw division of the Katy out to Denison, Texas, is a patient at the Katy hospital, receiving treatment for slight injuries sustained in an accident at Crowder City, Okla. Another new arrival is C. J. Corcoran, a clerk at Denison, his ailment being appendicitis.

I am offering this week only, all leading 10c straight cigars, 4 for 25c. Ben Scotten, Second and Ohio.

DRESS PROBLEM OF MEN

IT HAS CAUSED NO END OF AGITATION IN A THEATER IN BERLIN.

DISPUTE AT REHEARSAL OF "MRS. DOT"

Actors Take Issue With the Management in Their Stand for Evening Dress for a Tea Party on the Thames.

Cable to the Democrat-Sentinel.

[Hearst News Service.]

Berlin, Jan. 16.—The problem of the correct attire for men is agitating Berlin.

It has been raised into prominence by a dispute at a rehearsal of "Mrs. Dot," an English play by W. Somerset Maugham, which is to be produced at the Royal theater.

The play being English, the men's dress is considered an important point if the proper English atmosphere is to be conveyed.

The management think that evening dress should be worn by the actors on all occasions, even when the scene is a tea party on the Thames side.

This ridiculous idea is disputed by the actors, who know better.

37 MILES OF GOOD ROADS

THIS IS WHAT PETTIS COUNTY HAS ACCOMPLISHED IN LAST EIGHT YEARS.

ROADWAYS ARE OF ROCK AND GRAVEL

Twelve Mile District Has 216 Miles of Dirt Roads, Twenty-Five Miles of Which Were Graded in 1908.

The Twelve-Mile Road district, under the management of W. H. Powell, Charles McEniry and George T. Menefee, commissioners, with J. Ben Gorrell as superintendent, has accomplished more good work the past season than any of the ten previous years it has been in operation.

As this work reaches out in different sections the practicability and utility of the rock roads is demonstrated, and the people become more anxious for them throughout the county.

The first rock and gravel roads were laid by the commissioners eight years ago, and the first laid are wearing well and remain in good condition. Four and one-half miles have or will receive top dressing, the work having been provided for, which will place them all in the best possible condition.

During the past season the commissioners have completed 3 1/2 miles of new rock and gravel roads, distributed on the following roads:

On the Longwood road, 1 1/2 miles; on the state fair or Sixteenth street road, one mile; Fischer's lake, on Boonville street, one-half mile, and on the Petty road, one-half mile.

The following roads have or will receive top dressing: Marshall road, 1 1/2 miles; Abell road, one mile; Grand avenue road, three-fourths mile; Smithton road, one-half mile; Kentucky street, three-fourths mile.

The district now has thirty-seven miles of the best rock and gravel roads, all of which are connected with the paved streets in the city, and people coming to Sedalia from any direction can drive direct to Ohio or Main streets.

The district, which is twelve miles square, has 216 miles of dirt roads, which are kept in the best repair, twenty-five miles of which were graded in 1908.

There were built during the past year eighteen reinforced concrete culverts; and sixty-four other concrete culverts, which were previously built, have been numbered and plated, while there are in the district 650 culverts and bridges.

The superintendent is now making blue prints of the district, and a record of the bridges, showing all roads and bridges, giving the width, span and channel, with description of material used, so that had orders reported can be speedily reached.

The commissioners the past season rented the city steam roller, the use of which was of great utility in the work of packing the rock and gravel as laid.

The first board of commissioners appointed to put the Six-Mile (now Twelve-Mile) road law in operation selected, from quite a number of applicants, Mr. Ben Gorrell as superintendent, and each succeeding board has given him a reappointment, indicating the satisfaction he has given.

The money spent in road improvements in Pettis county could not have been put to a better use. It has been the means of bringing to Sedalia trade aggregating many thousands of dollars yearly that with the mud roads of other days would have gone elsewhere, and the Democrat-Sentinel hopes to see the good work continued until every section of the county is provided with the class of roads now found within the Twelve-Mile district.

TO RETIRE COLONEL TUCKER

Mrs. John A. Logan's Son-in-Law Ordered Before Board.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Col. Wm. F. Tucker, assistant paymaster general, a son-in-law of the late John A. Logan, has been ordered before an army retiring board in Chicago for examination to determine his fitness for further active duty. Col. Tucker is still in Hot Springs, Ark., where he was ordered for treatment.

Col. Tucker was arrested last October on a charge of wife desertion. He was ill at the time and pending treatment in Hot Springs the prosecution of the case was postponed.

Early in 1907 the widow of John A. Logan, aided by Senator Cuddum, filed charges with the war department against Col. Tucker, the husband of her daughter. What the charges were no one said, but it was generally accepted that Tucker was accused of offenses committed in the Philippines. The charges were dropped.

I am offering this week only, all leading 10c straight cigars, 4 for 25c. Ben Scotten, Second and Ohio.

BOOK GREATLY NEEDED

History of Pettis County and Sedalia Soon to Be Published.

The growth of Pettis county and Sedalia during the past fifty years, since Sedalia was first established as a city, has been so remarkable that it is worthy of place in the literature of the times, and the men through whose untiring efforts and patriotic endeavors these results have been possible, deserve and should have their lives and deeds given to posterity in the pages of a true history of the strenuous endeavors of the half century just closing.

The need for such a work has long been felt by those who take pride in the present position of the city and county, and would have the world honor those who have accomplished the great tasks that have resulted so splendidly in building up the prosperous community of which all residents are so justly proud.

So frequently has the great want of such a book been mentioned and so insistent have been many that some one undertake the publication, that the Democrat-Sentinel has determined to push the project forward and see to it that the story of Pettis county and Sedalia be told and that the publication be in such a substantial form that the book can always be preserved for those who come after those now living.

The history of the county and city, a blue book of the past, will therefore soon be published, and in it will be recorded the facts regarding the growth of the county and city and the work of those men who have "done things" will be set down and preserved.

The book will be handsomely bound in cloth and leather, will be printed on high grade paper and will be profusely illustrated with engravings of the very best class.

The undertaking is a large one, and it is to be hoped that it will receive the encouragement that a work of such character really deserves.

The preliminary work has been undertaken by C. Y. Knox, an experienced man in this special line, and he is now engaged in gathering and assembling facts and data, and the encouragement he has already received promises much for the final success of the undertaking.

SALOON THOUGHT NO. 54.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 22.—Despite gloomy predictions and depressing fears, the tax books of Atlanta, with all figures in, all the collections made and errors corrected, show an increase in the taxable values this year over last year of over $5,000,000.00. The comptroller's office shows this to be the case: Total personal and realty, 1907, $80,635,067; total personal and realty, 1908, $85,753,027, or an increase of $5,117,960.

This comes about by the same people that spent their money over the BAR are now spending much of it with the shoeman, grocer, dry goods merchant, butcher, newspaper, etc., and these people in turn are more prosperous and are investing in property. This is DOUBLY proven by the reports of the internal revenue department, which shows that only a small fraction of the amount of liquor is used in Georgia at present that was used before. And this is the test that shows, too, for comparatively no liquor gets around the revenue collectors. This increase of taxable property is just why taxes are REDUCED, when the brewers can't get the money of a community, by the saloon being closed. THE DRYS.

TO KNOW

How the eyesight should be tested is one thing; to have the necessary expertness to do it right is something entirely different. Many men fitting eyes today for glasses, some of them supposedly competent, are not expert in their work because they lack practice. When you want a pair of glasses you should not go to one that makes a side line of the business and a pair of glasses occasionally, or picks them out of a basket and lets you fit yourself. We have made a life study of this business and will fit you correctly.

In addition to the washing out of 160 feet of the Southern Pacific bridge

there is a snowslide between Yuba and a snowslide in Yuba pass; more over, 150 feet of snowsheds in the Eight overland passenger trains are

The railroad company has a large force of men at work on the obstruc-way, as the rain is still falling heavily.

Railroad officials here say it will be at least three days before trans-

An Ogden dispatch says: For the the thaw. Several trains are stalled on the Oregon Railroad and Naviga-

The Oregon Railroad and Naviga-

Missouri Pacific Pay Day.
Since the pulling off of the pay train on the Missouri Pacific employees of that company, several days before the time to receive their company will "come across" with their earnings. It is only a matter of conjecture among the employees, as sometimes it is several days past the former date, which was established when the pay car made its monthly

It was announced Saturday from the company's local offices that the

The Katy's pay day was Friday.
The 13th Was a "Hoodoo."
The 13th was a hoodoo to the Mismail locomotive broke down near Clarksburg and was delayed.

An hour or so later the locomotive on passenger and mail train No. 22, eastbound, broke down near Otterville.
Train 647, on this branch, waited at Tipton for 22, and then started on its trip somewhat late, when its locomotive broke down a mile this side of Tipton and consequently was quite late.
Three broken locomotives within twenty miles of each other at about the same time was the record for

The Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad company was convicted of violating the 28-hour cattle law in the United States district court in Kan-

five counts against it.
The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway company was convicted on nine counts Thursday. The Kansas City, Mexico & Orient must stand trial on two counts. The punishment is a fine of from $100 to $500 on each count. The St. Louis & San Francis-counts.

The companies are charged with keeping cattle in the cars longer than

'BANDITS OF THE NORTH'

GANG OF CRIMINALS CONSISTING OF ABOUT SIXTY PERSONS.

TERRORIZED THE HAZEBROUCK DISTRICT

Ringleaders Sentenced to Death and Now in Prison Awaiting Their Fate—Both Men and Women Belonged.

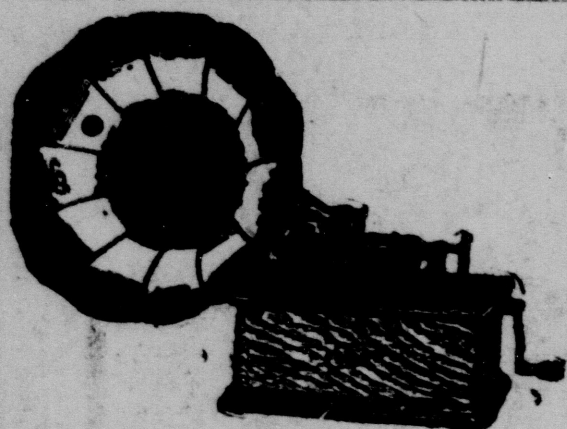

By Paul Villiers.

(Copyright by W. R. Hearst.)

Paris, Jan. 16.—A decision has not been come to in the case of the criminals known as the "Bandits of the North," a gang of criminals consisting of about sixty persons, men and women, who for two years terrorized the Hazebrouck district, murdering and robbing occupants of the lonely farm houses. The ring leaders of the gang, the brothers Pollet and Canut Vromont and Deroo, were sentenced to death several months ago. They are in Bethune prison awaiting their fate. They do not know what form it will take, whether they will be reprieved, or whether, since the chamber of deputies has voted in favor of the maintenance of capital punishment, they will be guillotined.

It is said that in consequence of the uncertainty of their fate the men are a prey to horrible nightmares. During the day they play cards and get through with something like fifty cigarettes; at night they can not sleep. After the vote of the chamber the prison authorities, with probable executions in their minds, are said to be making arrangements for the arrival of the guillotine.

During the last few days several places have been examined with a view to their suitability for erecting the "widow." The crowds which visit the prison gates daily have got it into their heads that the brothers Pollet are to be executed.

with his officers of the Mediterranean squadron that when he received his conge for having declared in an interview that France had a shortage of ammunitions it was natural they should desire to offer him a souvenir of their regard.

A number of officers took the initiative in inviting their colleagues to subscribe to a sword of honor to be presented to the admiral. One of the officers, in a letter which he sent to Paris, mentioned the proposed presentation.

The result of his communication was that a telegram in cipher was sent to Rear Admiral Darble, who is in temporary command of the squadron, ordering him to inquire into the proposed subscription. The officers are prohibited by M. Pickard, the minister of marine, from collecting subscriptions for the presentation to their late chief.

The forty landscapes of Frederick Humbert, husband of "La Grande Therese," which were recently exhibited in the Georges Petit gallery, are now a subject of litigation.

Frederick Humbert, who desires to live by his brush, sold his pictures for $400; but when a wealthy collector arrived at the gallery to remove the canvases he found that a former creditor was in possession. The question of possession is to be submitted to a referee.

Has a popular singer a right to own his voice? The court of appeals has been called upon to answer this question in singular circumstances the response affecting the manufacturers of phonographs and graphophones.

The famous tenor, Van Dyck, entered into an arrangement with a German company whereby the latter was authorized to record his voice while singing the opera "Tannhauser." A French company reproduced these records the Seine commercial court decided in the negative. A judgment was appealed against, and the court of appeals has found that the singer has a right to his own voice, and that he only partially disposed of his right when he sang specially for a maker of phonographs or graphophones.

There is still one man in Paris who can boast of having had his ears pulled and his cheeks pinched by a boy by the name of Napoleon I., and that is Jean Pierre Schamel, an inmate of a poorhouse at Ivry. He is now nearly 102 years of age and his father held the all-important post of conclave of the Chateau of Versailles during the reign of Napoleon.

Jean Pierre was born at the chateau early in 1807, and when he was 5 or 6 years old he remembers often seeing the emperor in the park. Jean Pierre had a fancy for climbing trees and one day he happened to have torn his breeches, when the emperor caught him and gently pulled his ears.

Whenever Napoleon saw him in the gardens afterwards he used to pinch his cheeks and asked him if he had climbed any trees that day. Jean Pierre Schamel remembers these pinches with pride.

At the age of 14 he was apprenticed to a tailor at Versailles and after Crown Prince Decides Not to Build the New Magnificent Palace at Babelsberg, Says German Newspaper.

(By Malcolm Clarke.)
Cable to the Democrat-Sentinel.
Copyright by W. R. Hearst.

Berlin, Jan. 16.—"For more than twenty years Emperor William has been living beyond his means," says the "Vossische Zeitung," a paper which is by no possible means sensational or socialistic, but on the contrary is one so conservative and staid that it has long had the nickname: "Auntie Viss," because of its at times rather exaggerated carefulness.

What no radical paper would have dared a few years ago, practically accusing the head of the German nation of being a reckless squanderer, who cannot make both ends meet on an income of $5,000,000 a year, the most conservative paper of the country prints without as much as a blush. Times have indeed changed in Germany and the lion has had its claws shorn. No charge of any kind will be made against the emperor, who has stated a fact that is so much more grave as not only did William's predecessors get along on the same income, but his grandfather, William I., even managed to save up the snug little sum of $15,000,000, a considerable part of which has also vanished through the present emperor's fingers.

One may imagine what the Kaiser feels when the radical papers remind him that President Roosevelt, the head of an at least equally great nation, receives no more than $50,000, and has no secret national funds to fall back upon, no castles to sell.

Since the present Kaiser ascended the throne, the expenditure has been growing all the time, and it is stated that there has of late been a considerable annual deficit. The Kaiser's journeys form one of the principal reasons of excessive expenditure, as they involve very heavy costs. The Vossische Zeitung writes:

"It can only cause satisfaction if unnecessary expenses of the imperial court are avoided, and if unnecessary luxury be limited in the future. It appears that November 17, 1908 (the day on which Prince Below told the emperor the whole truth about the outburst of national discontent against his personal regime), was the beginning of a new era in this as in other respects. It remains to be seen whether the change for the better will be permanent or only temporary."

A significant sign of the times may be seen in the decision of the crown prince not to build the new magnificent palace at Babelsberg, the construction of which had already been begun. This palace was to be the most luxurious building in Germany, and enormous sums were to be spent on the home of the future emperor. Orders have now been given to abandon the work of building, and the crown prince and princess will continue to reside at the Marble palace at Potsdam, although this building has frequently been described as too small for their requirements.

It is noteworthy that protests are being made in some quarters against the sale of the Kaiser's five castles on the ground that they are valuable architectural works which ought not to be allowed to pass into the hands of private possessors. The Rhenish Westphalian Gazette describes the sale as a violation of the Act of 1907, which prohibits the destruction of historical monuments. The castle of Stolzenfels, which is now offered for sale, was given to King Frederick William IV of Prussia by a number of enthusiastic patriots, who subscribed the necessary amount to buy it, and the Rhenish Westphalian Gazette declares that it is improper to offer a present for sale.

At any rate, adds the newspaper, ordinary mortals consider it indecent to sell presents which have been given to them. The Rhenish Westphalian Gazette proceeds to point out that the king of Italy, although a conservatively poor monarch, maintains all the historical castles in his possession, although large sums of money are necessary to preserve them. "King Victor Emmanuel," it says, "would never wound the historical sentiment of his people by selling these magnificent monuments of bygone times."

An amusing dispute which has arisen at the Royal theatre in regard to the clothes to be worn by the players in the forthcoming production of Mr. Maugham's comedy, "Mrs. Dot," draws attention to the confusion prevailing in German society on the burning question of men's dress.

The theatre authorities insist that the English atmosphere of the play can only be properly reproduced if the actors wear evening dress, whether the scene is laid in a drawing room at tea time or on the river. Members of the cast are trying in vain to convince the management of its error.

This same violent conflict of ideas is causing great inconvenience to fashionable hostesses and to hotel managers, who are striving valiantly but without much success to induce German gentlemen not to don evening dress until the evening. Dress suits, however, continue to dot the landscape at all hours. No daylight function is complete without them. They appear at the launching of battleships and the unveiling of statues, at garden parties, afternoon receptions and at funerals.

The thousands of young Germans who cross the channels to learn business and English manners return to advocate the English rules of dress for men, but their example seems only to add to the perplexity. The result is that the new luxurious hotels, restaurants and "palm-courts" present a wild riot of incongruous attire. Some guests come to luncheon and tea in evening coats or dinner jackets, while others arrive to dinner and late supper in morning suits.

The Kaiser has long been trying to effect a reform in the matter of clothes. Some time ago His Majesty decreed that neither men nor women should be admitted to certain opera

You know—you know—for it certainly is true—

We're as fitted for the ballot, sirs, as any one of you.

So prove that you are gentlemen by giving us our due, You'll find it the best thing you ever did, sirs.

Doesn't that convince you, Mister Man, that women have a right—an inalienable right—to the ballot? If it doesn't the suffragettes of Chicago have many more songs, and five of them will be rendered at a suffrage mass meeting to be held in Handel hall tomorrow afternoon. A prize of $100 is offered for the best song expressing the hopes and the discontent of the suffragettes, and musical efforts have been entered in the competition by song writers in every part of the country.

Brand Whitlock, mayor of Toledo, and a pronounced friend of the suffrage movement, will deliver an address at tomorrow's meeting, and there will be such a feast of oratory and song as the suffragettes of America have never before known.

The song contest will not finally close until February 1, when the following judges will pass upon the hundreds of entries entered in the competition:

Mrs. Clara Osborn Reed, the Columbia School of Music.

Mrs. Lillian V. Duncanson, president of the Chicago Political Equality league.

S. E. Kiser, poet and humorist.

Prof. W. D. McClintock, the University of Chicago.

L. B. Bishop, husband of donor of the $100 prize.

Work has begun on the gathering of Chicago names for the monster suffrage petition which is to be sent to congress on February 15, Susan B. Anthony's birthday. The petition is being compiled by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt and Mrs. Florence Kelley, working from headquarters at the

AN OLD-TIME PRINTING PRESS

Joe Simpson, Former Sedalian, Writes Regarding It.

The Current number of the American Advertiser, printed at Dallas, Texas, had the following paragraph: "Speaking of relics in printing machinery," said Dick McCarty, of the Weatherford Democrat, "I sold with my plant, at Leuders, a job press whose ancient history I have traced back to 1867. It is a 16x15 of the Universal type and was freighted by wagon from Sedalia, Mo., to Jacksboro, Texas, in 1867. It was used there for several years, then transferred to old Fort Griffin, where it printed the Echo for a number of years. Later on it was moved to the News plant at Albany, which I purchased, and this press did good service. Two years ago I bought a new press of the American and shipped the old Universal to Leuders, establishing a new paper in that place, and selling the same to T. M. Smart, who is turning out good work on the old mill yet."

Commenting on the above, J. H. Simpson, a former Sedalian, who now travels in Texas and Oklahoma for The American Typefounders' Co., of Dallas, Texas, says:

The writer, who was born and reared in Sedalia, believes this a part of an outfit consisting of several presses and a shirt full of type brought to Sedalia during the last days of the civil war by Col. J. West Goodwin from a small town in New York. Col. Goodwin, then young and ambitious, took Greely's advice and went west, and as Sedalia was then the terminus of the Missouri Pacific, he stopped there, and is there yet, and was never known to turn down a trade for a press from a 6x9 hand lever to a four-deck Hoe. J. West, what do you know about this?

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

performances unless attired in evening dress.

Quiet though everything appears to be on the surface, there are any indications which tend to show that Austria at least is counting with war in the Balkans as a very strong probability.

With the utmost secrecy that power has concentrated in Herzegovina an army big enough to overwhelm with one blow any of the hostile powers in the disturbed peninsula.

Everything has been done to keep all movements of troops secret. The troops have been marched through the larger towns at night, and newspapers which have had the temerity to refer to them have been confiscated wholesale.

The situation is at present as follows:

Sarajevo, the capital of Bosnia, is the headquarters of the Fifteenth army corps, whose normal peace strength, formed of two divisions, each of four regiments of infantry, is about 15,000, counting the cavalry and artillery.

By a recent decree of the emperor, the war minister was empowered to raise the strength of a regiment from the normal peace strength of 1,500 to 2,500 by retaining the youngest class of reservists and supplementary reservists under the colors, that is, those men who had already completed their term of service.

Further, the government has admitted that "several" battalions from other army corps have been sent as reinforcements to Bosnia, and "several," I am informed, means so far fifteen battalions of 708 men each.

Those have been formed into a third infantry division of about 10,000 men. Several batteries of the new quick-firing guns have also been sent from the Vienna arsenal.

The present strength of the Fifteenth army corps is about sixty battalions of infantry, four to a regiment, and, say, 13,000 artillery, cavalry, etc., or a total of 55,000 men.

Besides these a number of small flying columns—"strafimis," as they are locally called—have been formed to deal with the bands the enemy may be expected to send across the frontier, and 2,000 men have been set apart for this work.

Besides this, four of the army corps which would be the first to be sent to the front at the outbreak of war have been raised from the normal peace footing of 25,000 men or more.

There is thus a force of 157,000 men ready to march against Serbia at a moment's notice, and this is considered sufficient for the first line.

In a couple of weeks the Austrian army will be up to its full strength and the Austrian government knows very well that if a European war must come there can be no better time than the present.

Fully 4,000 new machine guns will have been distributed among the various army corps by the end of this month.

The artillery already possesses the new bronze quick firearms, which are considered among the best existing, and the infantry has a remarkable good weapon in the Mannlicher rifle, also of a new design.

The German military authorities are at present making exhaustive experiments with the working of wireless telegraphy from airships. The particular question which it desired to have answered were whether the use of wireless telegraphy on board an airship carried with it the danger of an explosion, and whether it in any way interfered with the working of the machinery.

The system of wireless telegraphy employed is said to have been already tested in this way by French and Belgian aeroplans in the airship Condor. It has been found that it is possible to hold communication with wireless stations on the earth without any kind of injurious effects to the aerial craft.

Another series of experiments has been carried out with registering balloons. These are provided with receiving apparatus, and a special contrivance by which a valve is opened as soon as a message has been recorded, and the balloon is brought down to the ground. Excellent results are said to have been obtained with this arrangement, which it is believed would be of great utility in time of war.

AFTER FEES IN NOTED CASE

Nemesis of Aged Lothario Sued by Former Lawyer.

New York, Jan. 16.—Hannah Elias, the negress, whose one-time husband, Williams, murdered Andrew H. Green, mistaking him for Mr. Platt, an aged real estate dealer, who had lavished money and affections on her, is a defendant in a suit tried before Justice Mareau in the supreme court in Brooklyn.

The plaintiff is Henry Daniels, to whom Washington Brauns, formerly the lawyer for Mrs. Elias, has assigned an unpaid claim for $25,000 against her.

Brauns set up that Mrs. Elias paid him a $5,000 retaining fee and promised him $25,000 more in case Brauns defeated the efforts of Mr. Platt to recover from her $685,000 which he had given her.

Mrs. Elias defeated the Platt suit, but did not pay the $25,000. Collier, Schaeffer & Eisler, of counsel for Mrs. Elias, set up that $5,000 was ample compensation for Brauns.

To Advertisers Who Want the Ablest Help

You who reap less than you sow. You who fall short of your full possibilities.

You who use arrows where grape-shot is needed, then wonder why others succeed better than you.

You who seek ability—here is something you should know.

There is a New Way in advertising which is responsible for scores of the greatest successes.

A New Way, created by us, which has made our business the largest of its kind, solely by astounding results.

A New Way which often makes one dollar do the work of ten. Let us explain it to you.

The Many-Man Power

We employ in our offices, both in New York and Chicago, an Advisory Board. These two boards together consist of twenty-eight men.

Each of these men is a master of advertising. Each is a man of vast experience and of proved ability. Each has won his place here through brilliant successes in many hard-fought campaigns.

All are high-priced men. It costs us about $1 a minute to keep one of these boards in session.

These men, in conference, work out the campaigns which we undertake for our clients. We bring to bear all their experience, all their ideas.

The astounding successes for which we are famous are due to this co-operation.

One-Man Power

Under the Old Way, such problems were left to one man's solution. Most agents do that today.

Sometimes the man is able, sometimes experienced. Still it is one-man power.

One man never learns all the pitfalls. The ablest of men has limited knowledge, limited ideas and experience. And human nature is too varied for any one man to average.

But our Advisory Boards, in conference, rarely make mistakes. And they rarely fail to get from advertising every latent possibility.

Under the one-man way, too many campaigns failed to return their cost. We know that from our own experience. Under the New Way, most of our clients succeed.

Under the Old Way, we made but semi-successes. Under the New Way our successes are the wonders of advertising.

Free Service

One duty of our Advisory Boards is to answer for anyone any such questions as these:

Can this article of mine be successfully advertised?

Can this advertising of mine be made more effective?

Such questions involve no charge, no obligation. You are welcome to submit them.

Another duty is to solve all selling problems. The success of a campaign often depends on that.

We Pay One Ad-Writer $1,000 Per Week

The head of our Copy Department receives a salary of $1,000 per week. He divides his time between New York and Chicago.

With him are the ablest men we know. We attract them by salaries such as no one else pays, and by opportunities such as no one else can offer.

Then each learns from all others. And here there are pace-makers who inspire the utmost effort. The good man becomes a master, and the genius a wizard here.

We employ more than 200 people. But our greatest asset, and our main expense, is this brilliant copy staff.

No Extra Charge

This sort of service demands no extra charge. We handle advertising on the usual agent's commission.

We get our return in the increase in advertising. For every success expands. It is cheaper for us to increase accounts than it is to solicit new ones.

The Old Way costs you just as much as the New. The difference in results is tremendous.

We issue a book which tells what the New Way has done. Every man who spends a dollar in advertising owes to himself its perusal. The book itself is a brilliant example of our advertising powers. Please send this coupon for it.

A Reminder

To send to Lord & Thomas, New York or Chicago, for their book, "The New Way in Advertising."

Please state name, address and business. Also the position that inquirer holds in the business.

THE HEAT WAS SHUT OFF

By Reason of Work Being Done on School Boilers.

Superintendent John P. Gass, of the city schools, was yesterday forced to temporarily vacate his offices in the High school building by reason of having no heat. The boilers are being worked on by plumbers, and this necessitated shutting off the warm ozone, and compelling Mr. Gass to suspend his Saturday work until some future time.

The overhauling of the boilers will not in any way affect the school, as it will be completed in plenty of time for the regular session Monday morning.

S.S.S. REMOVES THE CAUSE OF CATARRH

No remedy that does not entirely remove the cause of Catarrh from the blood will ever make a permanent cure of the trouble. Just as long as the circulation remains contaminated with the impurities and catarrhal matters which produce the trouble, the mucous membranes or inner linings of the body will be kept in a state of irritation and disease. Sprays, lotions and other local applications will sometimes temporarily relieve the tight, full feeling in the head, buzzing noises in the ears, uncomfortable, stuffy feeling of the nostrils, and help to loosen the mucus in the throat; but Catarrh is a constitutional blood disorder and until it has been entirely driven from the system there can be no permanent cure. S. S. S. cures Catarrh by removing the cause from the blood. It attacks the disease at its head and by thoroughly purifying and cleansing the circulation, and ridding it of every particle of impurity, and at the same time enriching the blood, allows the inflamed and irritated membranes to heal, improves the general health, and stops every disagreeable symptom. S. S. S. reaches down to the very bottom and leaves no trace of the disease in the system. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free to all who write.

A NOVEL FOR EVERY YEAR

THIS IS THE RECORD OF "NAT" GOULD, THE FAMOUS ENGLISH AUTHOR.

AND EVEN THEN HE HAS SCORE TO SPARE

As a Prolific Writer He Is a Close Third to Laura Jean Libbey and Bertha M. Clay, Who Head Writing Corps.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel. London, Jan. 16.—A novel for every year of his life, with nearly a score to spare, is the record of Nat Gould, the famous English author of sporting tales, who today celebrates his 52d anniversary. As a prolific writer, Mr. Gould is a close third to Laura Jean Libbey and Bertha M. Clay, and most critics will agree that his productions have more to commend them. Over seventy full-fledged novels, to say nothing of numerous short stories and novelettes, are to the credit of Gould's pen. Most of his tales revolve about sporting events, and are admittedly among the best of their kind. Personally, Gould is intensely interested in all sorts of sports, especially racing and driving, and his favorite hobby is gardening. He spends most of his time in England, but has seen most every part of the world and has visited America several times.

Gould's literary career has been a fascinating one. He left England in 1884 and "drifted," as he says, to New South Wales. "I first tried my hand at the tea trade," he said, in a recent interview, "but it was a ghastly failure. I then went in for farming, but I did not make a success of that. I then got a job on an Australian paper, where I stayed for six years."

After knocking about in general newspaper work in various parts of Australia, Nat Gould decided to try his hand at fiction. He had been asked to write a serial for an Australian newspaper, and he plunged into the work without any definite idea of what his story was to be like. The paper began publishing the story before he made up his mind what to do with it.

"I remember," he says, describing the fix in which he found himself, "when I came to the fifth chapter. I was rather puzzled as to how I was going to make out. However, I managed to worry through. This novel work had to be done 'after hours,' when I had already written from five to six columns a day of newspaper stuff for a paper called the Bathurst Times.

"When the serial had been running for thirty or forty chapters one day the editor came to me and asked: 'How long is that story of yours going to run?'

"I replied: 'Oh, about thirty more installments.'

"No, it isn't," he said, decisively. "It's going to run two more chapters. You have to wind it up in that length." And I did.

"As the story came out I cut it out week by week and when I had it complete I showed it to some friends. They brought the clippings before Rutledge's, and, to my surprise, after he had read it, his firm made me a good offer. Rutledge cabled asking me to do some work for them, and in the course of time I wrote twenty-five novels for that one firm alone. The book was first called 'With the Tide' and then 'In the Swim,' but as it was found that both these titles had been used, it was finally changed a third time to 'The Double Event.' It has sold well and proved the biggest of all my successes. The book was written in great haste and under peculiar circumstances of worry and interruption, and, despite its abrupt ending, it proved a success. It was dramatized in Australia. I might say that it was 'The Double Event' that led to my success in book writing."

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles—A Sedalia Citizen Shows How to Cure Them.

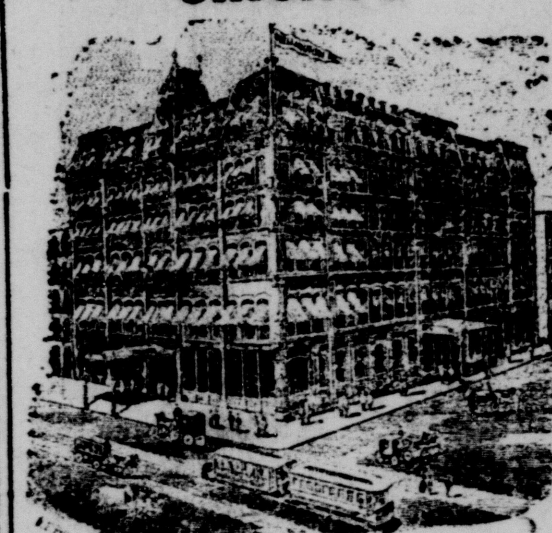

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Sedalia people testify to permanent cures.

Mrs. T. B. Young, 714 East Fourth street, Sedalia, Mo., says: "I think very highly of Doan's Kidney Pills. For two or three years I suffered from a dull aching and a lameness in my back, which extended at times into my head. I was also subject to dizzy spells and there was a blurring of my eyesight. Doan's Kidney Pills greatly relieved me and I consider them the best remedy I ever used."

THE PREMIER OF THE NINTH EXHIBITION

Attempt Has Been Made to Reproduce a Likeness of the Circus Maximus, Famous Roman Arena, for Show.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

New York, Jan. 16.—All is in readiness at Madison Square garden for tonight's premiere of the ninth exhibition of the Association of Licensed Automobile Manufacturers. All of the exhibits are in place and the final touches have been added to the decorations, which are declared to be the most beautiful in the history of American Automobile shows. The progress made during the last year toward standardization, producing cars of more nearly uniform mechanical arrangement, and enabling owners to substitute parts from cars of other makes when necessary, is perhaps the most notable feature of the exhibits.

An attempt has been made to reproduce a likeness of the Circus Maximus, the famous Roman arena, for this year's show, and the result is a high tribute to the ingenuity of the architect, W. W. Knowles.

For the main floor the color scheme is brown and white and green, beneath a sky of azure blue. Immediately beneath the canopy of blue the girders of the garden dome will glitter with myriads of incandescent lamps, and a new feature of lighting will be found in twenty-five are lights with colored shades that depend from the iron beams of the roof.

Just inside the garden entrance, curving about the first exhibition spaces in a wide, semi-circular abutment of gray stone, stands a sort of garden fountain—a trough-like basin, surrounded by artificial flowers, dextrously modeled, given the tint of life by the electric lights within their petals.

Griffins are grotesquely arranged along the brink of the basin, within whose waters, iridescent with electric lights below the surface, swim goldfish about the stems of water lilies, and from the mouths of the griffins runs the water to fill the basin.

At the other end of the garden the most notable feature of the decoration stands—a triumphal arch of plaster, eighty-seven feet high and forty-eight feet wide, supported on four Roman-Corinthian columns three feet and a half in diameter. Between these columns are three bays, their arches at the cornice, their bases at the balcony filled with massive mirrors of plate glass, the center one twenty feet wide, the other two nineteen. Above each column at the summit of the arch urns stand, and swinging against the face of the columns from the great chains attached to the top of the arch, hang great lamps of bronze.

This arch, lighted with the electric lights which stud its cornice, bearing on its face one of the "eagle on the wheel" emblems of the association, is designed to act as a background for the other decorations. They are not modeled so as to be compatible with it in size and character.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS. PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

BRADY, THE BUSY RECTOR

HE WAS ONCE PASTOR OF CAL-VARY EPISCOPAL CHURCH IN SEDALIA.

REMOVED TO KANSAS CITY, MO., FRIDAY

After Years of Rapid Fire Writing, With Forty Books Finished, Dr.
Brady Is to Find Rest in Building New Church.

Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady, at one time rector of Calvary Episcopal church of this city, was written of as follows in the Kansas City Star of Friday:

Religion is a live business with the Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady. Doctrinal discussions of no particular importance in the final disposition of man have no place in his plan of work.

He believes in christian activity of the sort likely to benefit the lives of those who participate in it. He is more concerned in making the church he represents—the Episcopal—a force in the community than with theological differences; he believes in being a part of the city in which he lives. He does things, and his past record in church and literature is proof that he loses mighty little time in getting started.

For instance, Dr. Brady and his family, Mrs. Brady and three children, arrived here at 8 o'clock this morning. Within one hour the new rector of St. George's had established his temporary home in Haddon Hall and was down town to confer with the architects about plans for a new church. If the site had been definitely decided upon, Dr. Brady would like to have men digging the foundation Monday, get the roof on by next Saturday and preach in the permanent church Sunday.

But it could not be done. The lot already purchased at Thirty-third street and the Paseo isn't large enough, the new rector says, being only 150 feet or so in size, so it will be sold and another bought large enough for what he calls a plant. St. George's has been forced into quarters back of an office and store building on Troost avenue, near Linwood boulevard, and Dr. Brady says he won't rest till its out where it belongs. He will preach his first sermon there Sunday morning.

Dr. Brady is built on big lines, physically and intellectually. He is probably as busy as any minister of the Gospel cares to be. For years he has held the championship in fast literary production. Forty books bear his name, but they represent only a small part of the loads upon loads of the writings he has turned out since he began to print things. No one knows how much work he can stand, but the only part of him that shows any wear is his head, and it is bald above his ears. Dr. Brady is 48 years old, but his face and his smile and his eyes are twenty years younger.

"They tell foolish stories about me," Dr. Brady said this morning. "It has been said that I sometimes stop in the middle of a sermon or a wedding to dictate a chapter or two in a novel. But, really, you know that isn't so. I was busy most of the time last month, but now I am to give up writing for a year and devote myself to St. George's."

More than the usual amount of work fell to Mr. Brady in December, because he was getting ready to leave Toledo to accept the call that had come from Kansas City for his services. But even with the handicap of packing and letter writing and visiting he did these things: Officiated at his daughter's wedding, and went to several receptions that followed it; wrote a complete novel of more than 75,000 words; preached two sermons every Sunday and taught a Bible class; preached a sermon every Friday afternoon; wrote five articles, each 1,000 words in length, reviewing more than 500 books for children, books on art and science and travel; helped in several Christmas and New Year services; wrote two sermons on own words, "married, baptized or buried every one in Toledo in need of such services."

Dr. Brady believes a minister should take a live, working interest in civic matters. He likes young men and he gets them into his church and keeps them. "If I have energy and endurance," he said, "I got them in the west. I've worked hard in the east for years, but now I shall rest for a year, anyway. I've dismissed my stenographer."

The stenographer, Dr. Brady admitted, would need a long, long rest. She has taken all his stories and books and sermons by dictation for several years and knows what hard work means. Just before he decided to come to Kansas City and rest, Dr. Brady wrote "The Island of Regeneration," to be published next September; "The Ring and the Man," a political novel, coming out next month, and a volume of sermons called "The Love Test." By that time the stenographer was ready for a home among the temporarily disabled, and glad doubtless, that her employer was coming to Kansas City to find recreation in building up a church.

"There's some satisfaction in knowing that what you write will be accepted," a visitor said. Dr. Brady laughed.

"Don't you believe it," he said. "Not always. I received two packages this morning in my mail. One was a manuscript which a woman wishes me to place for her. The other was one of my own manuscripts—returned."

When Cyrus Townsend Brady was 10 years old his parents moved to Leavenworth. He was appointed to the United States naval academy in September, 1879; was graduated therefrom in June, 1883; resigned from the navy in October of the same year; entered upon the railroad business immediately thereafter; was ordained deacon in the Protestant Episcopal church Feb. 24, 1889; priest, Nov. 25, 1890; missionary in the west and archdeacon of Kansas until 1895; archdeacon of Pennsylvania until 1890; rector of Overbrook, Philadelphia, for several years and later went to Toledo. In 1899 he was appointed captain and chaplain in the First regiment Pennsylvania United States volunteers, Spanish-American war and served until the regiment was mustered out of the service.

"And now," he said, after his visitor's curiosity had been satisfied, "I shall begin my rest by seeing the architects for the new church. I'll preach my first sermon Sunday. Come out and bring some one. You'll hear from St. George's pretty soon."

Dr. Brady brought his library with him—one car load of it—thirty-five cases, and every one as large as a piano case.

London, Jan. 16.—Rudyard Kipling's only play is awaiting a manager to produce it—has been waiting for that manager for nearly ten years.

No manager has been able to think of a way to overcome the technical difficulties of a dramatic version of the "Jungle Book" as Kipling dramatized it.

The play, which was written in 1900, is described by Hay Cameron, at whose suggestion Kipling wrote it, as a "most exquisite, most beautiful piece of work with twelve new and unpublished lyrics which Kipling wrote for it."

GOT NO CAMPAIGN MONEY

SO SAYS PROF. JOHN WHITTAKER, WHO WAS DEFEATED FOR CONGRESS NOV. 3.

FRIENDS WANT HIM TO MAKE RACE AGAIN

Sickness Prevented a Trip to Washington for a Conference Regarding Proposed Constitutional Proceedings.

Springfield, Mo., Jan. 16.—Friends of Prof. John Whitaker, of Weaubleau, who was defeated by Congressman C. W. Hamlin for Representative in Congress from the Seventh district at the November election are urging him to become a candidate again for the republican nomination in 1910.

Prof. Whitaker was at the Metropolitan hotel Friday. He said it was too early yet to say what answer he would give his friends, but said that he had not dropped from the political game entirely by reason of his recent defeat.

Prof. Whitaker is just recovering from an attack of pneumonia, which was followed by a hemorrhage of the stomach, and is still very weak. As announced several days ago, he has dropped his contest proceedings against Congressman Hamlin by reason of the fact that the contest papers were allowed to lie in the Washington postoffice two days after being received there. It was then too late for the marshal to get service on Mr. Hamlin within the required time.

"The expenses of my campaign were rather costly," said Prof. Whitaker, "and I did not feel it was worth while to take a chance in bringing contest proceedings, though I believe I had good grounds for action."

"I paid my way through the campaign and never accepted a dollar from the republican committee. My friends urged me to contest Hamlin's seat. Before I took action I intended going to Washington to confer with

While Prof. Whitaker refused to commit himself, it is believed he will be a candidate at the republican primaries at the next congressional election.

Central Business College Items.

Sixteen pupils have been placed in first-class positions during the past week, and a large number have entered school.

The new office, banking and wholesale department is the most elegant to be found in any business college in America and the students of this department are conducting themselves with the dignity of the very best business men in our largest cities.

The young man who passes through Central Business college now will be competent to successfully hold any office position within the range of his work. Everything is reduced to actual transactions and the pupil learns to do by doing. There is no excitement nor lack of confidence when he takes charge of a tangled set of books in actual business, as he has been through the same kind of work in school.

We are teaching our stenographers to take letters directly on the typewriter as well as in shorthand. We have pupils in school now who can take from one hundred to one hundred and fifty letters per day directly on the typewriter. This is why our pupils accept and successfully hold such high grade positions. They receive salaries directly from school, at from 50 to 75 per cent more than do the graduates from other institutions.

The telephone and railway department of this institution is placing its graduates promptly in good positions and the demand is greater than we can supply.

Dublin, Jan. 16.—The Irish are becoming increasingly thrifty, as is proved by official statistics just published.

These show that in twenty years deposits and cash balances in Irish banks have greatly increased, while savings bank deposits have been more than trebled.

The people's savings deposits in savings banks have increased from about $15,000,000 in 1888 to $53,185,000 in 1908. Bank balances have increased from $150,000,000 to $240,000,000.

COMBINATION HORSE SALE

High Class Stock Will Be Sold by W. B. Taylor March 4-5.

W. B. Taylor, the widely known horseman, announces his first annual combination sale of high class horses at the Missouri state fair grounds, Sedalia, March 4 and 5. Mr. Taylor has been at work on this sale for some time, and has interested a large number of the owners of good stock, who have entered with him. A perusal of the announcement will tell you just who have made consignments for the event and the stock that is entered.

Mr. Taylor is a thorough horseman. He knows the business from start to finish and his conservative business methods have placed him in the forefront of American turfmen. He is reliable, and any entries will have as careful attention as though the property were his own.

It is Mr. Taylor's intention to make these sales an annual event, the success of the first depending wholly upon subsequent ones. From the interest manifested so far there is every reason to believe that the event will be perpetuated. The stock so far entered will attract buyers from all over the country. Mr. Taylor is sparing neither time nor money to make the sale a success, and the conditions as they are today indicate that his efforts have not been in vain.

HE SKETCHED HIS ROBBER

An Arrest of a New York Man Identified By a Drawing.

New York, Jan. 16.—The New York police department has recorded the fact that for the first time in its history a man has been arrested through the ability of his alleged victim, who was robbed, to make a pen and ink picture of the accused.

J. C. Frisch, of No. 609 Sunnyside avenue, Weehawken Heights, N. J., was robbed of $100 last Sunday on a Broadway car at Thirty-fourth street.

Several Provinces in the French Republic Present Families That Offset the Decline in the Population.

Cable to the Democrat-Sentinel.
[Hearst News Service.]

Paris, Jan. 16.—While the population of France is decreasing there are various provinces where very large families are the rule instead of the exception. At Verrieres, near the Swiss frontier, for instance, families of ten or a dozen are common.

Last week M. Simon, a farmer, sat down to his golden wedding dinner with forty-two children and grandchildren. Mme. Botte, another farmer's wife, has had twenty-six children; the receiver of taxes in the town, M. Crelier, has a household of twenty-five children; MM. Hamard and Longchamp, both farmers, are the happy possessors of twenty and nineteen children, respectively.

This district is being pointed to as a proud example for those who would overcome the decline of the French nation.

The show will demonstrate that breakfast these days, in the modern home, is merely a matter of pushing the button. The latest of the breakfast utensils is the electric toaster. This device is inexpensive and most efficient. The bread to be toasted is placed in a vertical position on either side of the heating element. By this method the bread is not burned as it is in horizontal toasters. In the electrical show exhibits electrical cooking will be demonstrated to show that it is not only feasible but practical and economical as well. Now Owns a Fine Poultry Farm Not Far from St. Louis.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 16.—Otto Williams, second baseman of the Indianapolis American association team, won nearly every first and second prize with his blue fantail pigeons at the annual show of the Kansas City Fanciers' association, which closed in Convention hall last night.

Williams owns a poultry farm near St. Louis which is considered one of the best in the state. He takes great interest during the winter months raising his fine poultry stock. The Hoosier's second baseman has some of the best game roosters in the country and he takes great pleasure in matching them against other game birds in the neighborhood of St. Louis.

Williams has only been in the pigeon business a short time. Two years ago, while the poultry show was going on in Kansas City, the Indianapolis star bought a couple of prize tamblers in Convention hall and took them back to his farm, where he has been breeding a fine stock of fantails. Otto understands the poultry business thoroughly and he is about as clever raising poultry as he is on the diamond.

'DEVIL,' OUT 'VAMPIRE' IN

AS A SENSATION THE MOLNAR PLAY HAS "PETERED" IN NEW YORK.

SO WRITES RENOWNED CORRESPONDENT

Glenn Guernsey Presents His Weekly Letter for the Edification of the Readers of the Democrat-Sentinel.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

New York, Jan. 16.—Exit, "The Devil." Enter, "The Vampire." As a sensation, the Molnar play has petered out. The new psychological drama by Edgar Allen Woolf and George Sylvester Viereck, which will have its metropolitan premiere at the Hackett theater on Monday night, promises to be its successor.

"The Vampire" is no relation of the Kipling poem of the same name. Rather, it bears a first-cousin resemblance to "The Witching Hour." As in the Augustus Thomas play, thought transference is the theme of "The Vampire." It is an absorbing topic, from a dramatic point of view. The hero of "The Vampire" is an author. Also, he is a hypnotist. The combination is a profitable one, since it enables the disciple of occult arts to steal from literary friends their ideas and plots. The material thus fished by processes of "thought robbery" the author works into literary productions of his own and for which he obtains all the credit.

During the last few weeks, "The Vampire" has been "tried on the dog" in several small cities, and has won praise from professors at Yale, Brown and other cities.

Burlesque "The Devil."

"The Devil," by the way, has reached the burlesque stage, and the comical conception of the drama will be presented at Weber's next week by Joe Weber's all star company. "The Merry Widow" will also be burlesqued. "An International Marriage," which has held the boards at Weber's for some time, closed tonight.

A new farce comedy, "The Girl From Rector's," will open on Monday night, February 1. It is an adaptation from a foreign author by Paul M. Potter.

Joseph O'Mara, the Irish actor, will close his engagement in "Peggy Macree" at the Broadway next week, and will be followed by "A Stubborn Cinderella," a new musical comedy, with Jack Barry and Sallie Fisher in the principal roles.

Chanler Hearing.

According to reports from Virginia, the adjourned hearing in the sanity proceeding brought in the courts of the Old Dominion by John Armstrong Chanler will be resumed next week. Owing to the prominence of the Chanler family, the result of the hearing is awaited with a great deal of interest in metropolitan social circles.

Chanler is a brother of Lieutenant Governor Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler, of New York, and was once the husband of Amelie Rives, the authoress. He alleges that he was wrongfully accused of being non compos mentis and his property confiscated by the New York courts. Hearing in the case in which Chanler sought to establish his sanity was abruptly suspended last October, after some sensational testimony by the alleged madman. New York friends of Chanler, while admitting that he is very eccentric, believe that he will be able to prove that he is sane from a legal standpoint and able to manage his property.

Aid Quake Victims.

Not in many years have the latent charitable instincts of New Yorkers been so aroused as during the last two weeks. Thousands upon thousands of dollars have poured into the coffers of the relief fund for the Italian earthquake victims, and the end is not yet. Today is "tag day" in the metropolis, and it is expected that an immense addition to the fund will

It is a mean or poverty-stricken man indeed, who is not wearing today the magic tag that betokens a contribution to the sorrowing, famine-stricken survivors of the greatest disaster in history. Pathetic in the extreme were some of the scenes to be witnessed in the Italian quarter since the earthquake. Thousands of New York Italians are mourning relatives and friends, supposed to have been lost in the terrible catastrophe that devastated the fatherland, but in the hour of their grief they have not forgotten the survivors who are in urgent need of assistance. Many countrymen of the earthquake victims are living on the bare edge of starvation in order to contribute their mites to the relief fund. Women have stripped their scanty wardrobes of all but a single garment in order that their sisters in Italy might have clothing, and men have been seen to remove shoes, hats and coats in the street and present them to the collectors of supplies for the Italian relief society.

WEDS WIDOW TO GET CASH?

Bride of a Few Hours Says Madison Then Deserted Her.

St. Louis, Jan. 16.—According to Mrs. Lizzie N. E. Jackson, a comely widow of Iola, Kan., John Madison was the champion quick-action wooer, and he never made love to a woman save to relieve her of all her available wealth.

In December he persuaded Mrs. Jackson to let him have $1,400, she says, and then deserted her on the day of their marriage, just after making a swift "touch" of $380 with which to buy tickets to take them to California on their honeymoon.

Mrs. Jackson was at the Laclede hotel yesterday. She came to St. Louis on the trail of Madison, accompanied by W. D. Cope, an attorney of Iola.

Mrs. Jackson has an appointment to meet William H. Stallings, a merchant of Alhambra, Ill., who, when he read of her being stung, wrote her and proposed marriage.

He told her in the letter that he did not want her to lose confidence in all mankind, and assured her he did not want to borrow money.

TUBERCULOSIS

THE GREAT IMPORTANCE OF ITS EARLY DIAGNOSIS.

MANY SUFFER FROM THIS DIS-EASE AND ARE NOT AWARE UNTIL TOO LATE.

The number of persons who are daily carrying around with them the germs of this most dreadful of all diseases are almost legion. The farther and farther the great scientist of the day progress in their investigations of these poisonous elements that are threatening to depopulate the earth, the more amazed and appalled they become at their startling discoveries. They, one and all, concur in the fact that the ordinary method employed by the average physician in waiting until some of the vital organs are attacked, is lamentably weak, and radically wrong. They strongly advocate the revolutionizing of the whole field of medicine as practiced today, for it is entirely too broad and complicated for any one mind to master. They recommend specializing each branch, for it is the specialist who devotes all his time to a particular class of conditions that produces results that is in keeping with the advancements and evolution of the world.

For the benefit of those who are interested in the subject, The Dr. Camp Medical Co. herewith presents a few of the many symptoms that are very indicative to the trained specialist that a nucleus of this disease is hidden away in some of the deeper structures of the body and only await a favorable opportunity to attack the Lungs or some other vital organ. This is what is called closed Tuberculosis or the masked variety. The early symptoms of this class of cases is a disturbance of the circulation of the nervous system of digestion and assimilation. The face frequently changes color; they are easily excited, are tired in mind and body, have little appetite, restless at night, bowels may act irregular, with irregular or painful menstruation in the female, associated with brittleness of the nails, dryness of the hair and skin; they become irritable with a very inconsistent pulse rising from 70 to 100 or more on the least bodily or mental excitement. A microscopic test of the blood and other secretions shows to the expert the unmistakable signs of tubercular destruction. Such cases if unchecked usually continue until a complete breakdown occurs when nature tries to eliminate the poison with a cough attended with all the pronounced symptoms of quick consumption. If the early history of some of the causes are inquired into, we find that some time in the past they had an attack of malaria which was in truth the beginning of Tuberculosis, the same applies to spells of pleurisy, and last, but not least, the after effects of the "Grippe," which is unfortunately a frequent cause. Tuberculosis of the throat, enlarged tonsils, the stomach, the bowels, and the enlarged glands of the neck are all varieties of this class of cases with varying symptoms according to the progress of the disease. Many cases present themselves with Tuberculosis written all over them, whose blood tests show they have reached an advanced stage of the disease unnoticed. This applies most especially to children and young adults. Another class of cases begins with a hacking cough or more or less catarrh of the nose and throat, with occasional pain in the chest, inability to breathe deeply without coughing, loss in weight, and indigestion, cold hands and feet, night sweats. The most important symptom in this class where there is no cough is loss of appetite, indigestion, brightness and enlargement of the pupil of the eye at times, particularly in the young.

The above are a few of the most prominent symptoms that should cause alarm of the existing evidence of the GREAT WHITE PLAGUE—CONSUMPTION, and if you have cause to believe that such a condition exists, or are in doubt, you should immediately seek the best medical aid obtainable ere you fill an untimely grave.

THE DR. CAMP MEDICAL COMPANY offers you the best there is in modern medical science for the cure of such conditions.

Their Famous Inhalatorium Treatment for Germ diseases has gained a wide reputation. Many come from a distance to avail themselves of this remarkable cure. Hundreds who had almost lost hope have been restored to health and are now happy and well.

TO THOSE WHO SUFFER. We want a knowledge of your true condition you are groping in the dark. Come to our office and we will make a most thorough, searching and scientific examination of your case, free of charge, and if we find that your condition will yield to the influence of our New System of Treatment, then we will accept your case.

A CUT GLASS STAIRCASE

ORDERED BY SULTAN FOR TURKISH PALACE FROM LONDON DEALERS.

THE MOST DAZZLING OUTSIDE FAIRY CITY

Colored Electric Lights to Illuminate the Decoration, but This Will Be on State Occasions Only.

Cable to the Democrat-Sentinel.

[Hearst News Service.]

London, Jan. 16.—The diplomatic understanding between Turkey and Great Britain has resulted in an immense number of commercial orders reaching London firms from the nobilities of Constantinople.

Never before have English goods and Englishmen been so popular in Turkey, and members of the "Young Turk Party" in London are acting as agents in the exportation of all sorts of leather, silver and woolen goods.

The Sultan himself has led the movement. Abdul Hamid still clings to his old ideas of gorgeous Oriental luxury, and he has ordered a complete staircase of cut glass for his palace.

It will be the most dazzling staircase ever seen outside a fairy story. The "treads" of the stairs are to be beveled and cut with Turkish inscriptions.

The staircase will be twenty-five feet wide, and colored electric lights will illuminate it on state occasions.

ON AND OFF CHAT

ABOUT FAT

The society reporter picked up the following gem at Madam Brewster's not twenty-four hours ago. One of her millionaire customers struggling into a new gown asked the famous costumer how she kept her figure in such superb shape. "You habitually eat and drink heartily and even thoughtlessly, not to say riotously at times," she complained, "whereas I live like a hermit. Yet I can't keep slim and, apparently, you can't get fat."

"Guiltily," replied the fashion czarina. "I admit I don't fatten up nor do I thin down, but it is because I have the power, my dear Mrs. (the name almost slipped out), to say to my fat 'This far and no farther. I don't exercise nor diet nor run any danger of wrinkles or stomach trouble either. Here is the secret.'"

She wrote a few words on a slip of paper and handed it to her questioner. "Get that filled at the druggist's," she concluded, "take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime and you will never get any fatter than you want to be. You can take off a pound a day with this receipt, if you want to."

Being fat herself and fully alive to the tremendous value of these statements to fat folks everywhere, the society reporter committed an unpardonable social sin; she peeped over the lady's shoulder—and this is what she saw: For Excess Fat, simplest, safest, cheapest, most helpful receipt of any: One-half ounce Marmola, 1/2 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, 3 1/2 ounces Peppermint Water.

"IDEALIZING" OF CRIME

IN A CERTAIN CLASS OF PLAYS IS BEING FOUGHT BY FRENCHMEN.

T WAS UNEXPECTED FROM THAT SOURCE

"Sherlock Holmes" and "Raffles" Are the Objects of Attack—Lead to Raising of a Generation of Thieves.

Cable to the Democrat-Sentinel.

[Hearst News Service.]

Paris, Jan. 6.—Those who still believe that the French nation has morals are starting an agitation against the theaters for producing such plays as "Sherlock Holmes," "Raffles" and "Arsene Lupin," on account of the effect which these plays are evidently having upon the minds of the people.

The idealizing of crime and making criminals heroes is being much decried, and some writers have gone so far as to say that many if not all of the petty crimes that are occurring around Paris are attributable to the influences of these plays.

One writer says if some ban is not placed upon the theaters, the French nation will be raising a generation of thieves and criminals. Making heroes out of clever stage criminals so that the sympathy of the audience is always with them is having a most dangerous and deleterious influence on the minds of young and old.

INJURY ENDS ENGAGEMENT

St. Louis Belle Not to Marry Man Crushed in Wreck.

St. Louis, Jan. 16.—Miss Elsie Haussler, St. Louis society belle, has confirmed a report that her engagement to marry Charles Carson, terminal railway employe, of East St. Louis, was broken off as a result of injury in a wreck, making him permanently lopsided. She said:

"Charlie's chest is crushed. One side will always be lower than the other. When he so informed me he consented to break our engagement."

Their engagement was announced a month ago, while he was in a hospital as a result of the injury received in a wreck. He was taken to San Antonio for his health. They will not write to each other, it is reported. She is a daughter of Herman Haussler, prominent in St. Louis, and sister of Harry Haussler, the fashionable Union club's entertainment committee's ex-chairman. She is young, titian-haired, tall and slender.
